ANAED: "Never forget that you are not alone "

Mrs. Dominique Ouattara made on Wednesday, July 3rd, 2013 cash and kind donations to the little residents of the National Association Nationale d'Aide à l'Enfance en Danger (National Association fo Childhood at risk) in Korhogo. On this occasion, she invited children to perseverance and courage in the harshness of life. Read here, please, her speech.

Dear ANAED children,

I am very happy to visit you for the second time since 2001, to hear from you and show my affection.

To you my dear parents from Tégouéré and Waraniéré, I would like say thank you for the warm welcome, as well as your beautiful performances, which gave me great pleasure.

I would like to thank you and you convey at the same time , the Greetings of my dear husband, the President of the Republic, Alassane your brother.

Distinguished leaders of the Association,

I would like to pay you a vibrant tribute, for major humanitarian work you are doing for our children.

Indeed, whether orphans or from poor families, they all find with you, love and affection for their development. They also benefit from literacy courses and training, contributing to provide them a new start in life, and hope for a better future. I offer you all my congratulations and sincere thanks for the remarkable work that you do for our Children.

I know that child care conditions are not easy. The needs are enormous and the means do not always follow. That is why I brought you food, educational materials as well as agricultural equipment for your training and educational games. I hope that these gifts will help you face a while your difficulties. Today, you have your two responsible Ministers who have come to know you and I'm sure they will can help you.

To you my dear children,

You have fallen on hard times, but today, thanks to the Association, you have a chance to learn a trade for your professional integration. The trainings you receive will allow you to forge a bright future.

The job you will get through your training is the key to happiness, and never forget that you are not alone, I am with you.

Thank you.
